

New Zealand.

ANALYSIS.

Title.
1. Short Title.

2. Fresh fish may be sold at auction at any hour, night or day.

1886, No. 10.

AN ACT to regulate the Sale of Fresh Fish by Auction.

[30th July, 1886.]

Title.

BE IT ENACTED by the General Assembly of New Zealand in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1. The Short Title of this Act is “The Fish Auction Act, 1886.”

Short Title.

2. Notwithstanding anything contained to the contrary in any Act relating to the licensing of auctioneers, or of hawkers and pedlars, or in any by-law made by any Borough or County Council, or Town Board respectively, it shall be lawful for fishermen, or for any person appointed by them in that behalf, to sell newly-caught fish of any kind, except shell-fish, by auction at any hour of the day or night, in the manner usual at auction-sales or in any other manner customary in the fish trade, or to hawk and carry such fish for sale at any private houses by retail, without taking out a license either as auctioneer or hawker and pedlar.

Fresh fish may be sold at auction at any hour, night or day.

If any person shall in any way exceed the authority granted by this Act, and sell any articles under the colour of this Act which are not thereby authorized, he shall be liable to the penalties prescribed for selling goods without having taken out an auctioneer's license, or a hawker's and pedlar's license, as the case may be.